

Ellen Suthers, Ph.D. is a senior research associate with FESS. Dr. Suthers is trained in anthropology, with specialization in African and Middle Eastern studies and several years of field research in West Africa and Morocco. As program manager for Sierra Leone, Dr. Suthers is coordinating a project to reclaim mined-out land and increase livelihood and food security in artisanal diamond mining communities. Prior to joining FESS, Dr. Suthers taught at The George Washington University, Washington, D.C. and the University of Maryland, Baltimore County. Dr. Suthers served in the U.S. Department of State Foreign Service Institute as coordinator of officer training for African studies and in the Department of Academic Studies, National Museum of African Art-Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. Dr. Suthers has published for UNICEF and in scholarly journals. A Fulbright scholar, Dr. Suthers holds a PhD and MA in anthropology from the University of Virginia, Charlottesville.