Dear Neighbor,

This guide is an introduction to the services and programs available to Central Virginia residents through the University of Virginia.

The University has one of the nation’s major medical centers, providing services for approximately 600,000 patient visits per year, and one of the largest libraries, with collections of nearly 5 million volumes. It regularly has lectures, films, athletics, theatrical performances and exhibitions that are open to the public. Community members can take continuing education classes and CPR training; they may receive counseling for personal problems and career choices. Help is available for filing taxes, starting a small business and teaching a child to read. Addresses, web sites and phone numbers are provided.

Please come and take advantage of these services. Your involvement in the University enriches all of us.

Sincerely,

John T. Casteen, III
President

Getting Acquainted with U.Va.
VISITING THE UNIVERSITY

Information Center
The University map and visitor’s guide — as well as brochures about the Rotunda, the Pavilion Gardens and a walking tour — are available at the University of Virginia Information Center, located on Route 250 West near its interchange with U.S. 29. Information on visiting the University can also be found on the welcome center web site at http://www.virginia.edu/wlcm.html.

Parking/Bus Transportation
The University has designated visitor parking throughout Grounds. Visitor parking is provided in many ways, including:

- Meters - Available at an hourly rate on a first-come, first-served basis at all recreation centers and near the Athletic Ticket Office.
- Central Grounds Parking Garage and U.Va. Bookstore - Available at an hourly rate on a first-come, first-served basis. The Central Grounds Garage and U.Va. Bookstore are located along Emmet Street near Ruffner Hall.
- Hospital Parking Garage - Available free with validation to hospital patients and their visitors. Located on Lee Street across from the University Hospital. In addition, Hospital Drive offers parking for private clinic patients.
- Michie Building and Carruthers Hall - Available free to visitors of Michie Building (Human Resources) and Carruthers Hall in a lot located between Michie and Carruthers.

On home football game days, additional visitor parking is available in the Emmet/Ivy Parking Garage and the Hospital South Parking Garage. The Emmet/Ivy Garage is also available on days of home men’s basketball games. Check the local newspaper the day of the game to confirm price, availability and location.

Parking is at a premium on Grounds. Therefore, the University issues tickets and will tow cars parked illegally; please be aware of signs and painted curbs prohibiting parking. Yellow paint indicates that parking is prohibited at all times, no matter how brief. Red paint indicates limited parking in accordance with posted signs. If your car has been towed, call the University’s Department of Parking and Transportation Services at 924-7231 between 7:30 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. After 5 p.m. and on weekends, call the University Police at 924-7166.

Parking for people with disabilities is available throughout Grounds. The University’s Department of Parking and Transportation honors handicapped permits from the Department of Motor Vehicles and also issues its own passes on request. Parking and Transportation Services also publishes a list of on-Grounds parking areas for people with disabilities. Handicapped passes may also be used in metered areas at no charge and in service vehicle spaces. Passes may not be used in reserved or prohibited spaces. Users of handicapped spaces in the Health System parking garages are charged the normal hourly rate.

The University also provides free bus service linking Barracks Road, Rugby Road, Grady Avenue, Jefferson Park Avenue, and all U.Va. satellite parking lots to Grounds. This service is available to students, staff, faculty, and visitors to the University. Call 924-7231 for more information or log on to http://www.virginia.edu/parking.

Tours
Free guided tours of the Rotunda and Lawn are provided year-round. Tours meet daily (except during the semester break in December-January) at 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 2 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4 p.m. at the Rotunda entrance facing the Lawn. Call 924-7969 for more information.

Admission tours are also available. Call the Office of Admission at 982-3200 for more information. Tours are accessible to those in wheelchairs, and brochures are available in different languages. http://www.virginia.edu/undergradadmission/schedule.html

Virginia Festival of the Book
145 Ednam Drive
Charlottesville, VA 22903-4629
924-3296 • 296-4714

The Virginia Festival of the Book is an annual event held in March that features authors and book-related professionals in over 150 programs. Produced by the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities, the festival attracts thousands of book lovers, children and adults, every year. The events include readings, book signings, panel discussions, and workshops. http://www.yabook.org
The mission of the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities (VFH) is to develop the civic, cultural, and intellectual life of the Commonwealth by creating learning opportunities for all Virginians. Its purpose is to bring the humanities into Virginia’s public life, assisting individuals and communities in their efforts to understand the past, confront important issues in the present, and shape a desirable future based on conscious choice. Programs include:

The African-American Heritage Program
Documents and interprets historic sites related to African descendents in Virginia, develops and maintains a comprehensive database and educational Web site, circulates an exhibit entitled “Don’t Grieve After Me: The Black Experience in Virginia,” and awards grants for research, site development and programming.

The Grant Program
Awards funds for conferences, seminars, exhibits, lectures, film, video, and audio productions, oral histories, and other public humanities projects and sponsors Regional Humanities Councils, volunteer associations to promote the humanities statewide.

The Media Program
Produces “With Good Reason,” a weekly radio program broadcast statewide, manages the Southern Humanities Media Fund; sponsors and hosts educational conferences and workshops on media and culture; houses video and audio production studios for use by VFH staff, independent producers, and radio broadcasters; and maintains a media library and traveling exhibits for schools, universities, libraries, museums, and other non-profit organizations.

Research and Education: Center for the Humanities
Awards fellowships, hosts fellows-in-residence and sponsors and hosts educational seminars for teachers and conferences, workshops, colloquia, and exhibits.

The Institute on Violence and Survival
Explores historical attitudes and contemporary responses to violence, especially in American culture and publishes the journal, “Sacred Bearings.”

The South Atlantic Humanities Center
A joint project uniting U.Va. and Virginia Tech, explores the history, traditions, cultures, and future of the U.S. South Atlantic region.

VABook! Reading and Literacy Programs
 Include the annual Virginia Festival of the Book; “VaBooks,” a monthly column; Motheread and Fatheread training institutes and programs on family literacy; and All America Reads, a national reading program in collaboration with schools and libraries. VABC, Virginia Arts of the Book Center, houses three letterpresses and teaches classes on book arts and craft; the VFH Press publishes books.

The Virginia Folklife Program
Researches, documents, and interprets traditional cultures in Virginia, including the national and ethnic traditions of recent immigrants; awards grants; and sponsors an apprenticeship program, workshops, and other programs in folklife. http://www.virginia.edu/vfh/
CHAPTER THREE

The U.Va. Medical Center
The mission of U.Va.’s Medical Center is to provide excellence and innovation in the care of patients, the training of health professionals, and the creation and sharing of knowledge.

434-924-DOCS (3627)

Overview

When Thomas Jefferson opened the doors of the University of Virginia in 1825, he included a school of medicine among the original schools. Jefferson personally recruited Dr. Robley Dunglison, a British physician, to be head — and entire faculty — of that school.

Today, not only is there a School of Medicine, but also a School of Nursing, a major Health Sciences Library, and a modern medical center offering a wide range of health care services. Together, these entities plus the Health Services Foundation comprise the University of Virginia Health System. The U.Va. Medical Center includes the parts of the Health System that offer direct patient care.

Within this health care complex, individuals and families can have all their medical needs met. Preventive and basic family care are available, along with care provided by a wide range of leading specialists that can only be found in a major academic medical center — excellent care that individuals might find surprising in a medium-sized town in the middle of a primarily rural area.

In fact, the U.Va. Medical Center is one of very few academic medical centers in the country that serves a primarily rural population. The Medical Center draws patients not only from nearby cities and counties, but also from the state’s major metropolitan areas, as well as from many other states and countries.

World-Renowned Services

The U.Va. Medical Center is world-renowned for a number of its services, including cardiac care, cancer care, digestive services, neurosciences, including a comprehensive epilepsy program, diabetes research and care, and care of children. There are several dedicated, multidisciplinary centers: the U.Va. Heart and Vascular Center, the U.Va. Digestive Health Center of Excellence, the U.Va. Cancer Center and U.Va. Children’s Hospital. The specialized services available to children include neonatal and pediatric intensive care units and a dedicated children’s emergency room staffed with pediatric specialists. Other services provided include the only burn center in the region; a Level I trauma center; transplant programs, including the complex heart-lung transplant; neurosciences programs, and women’s services, including prenatal counseling and a comprehensive women’s midlife clinic. U.Va. also offers telemedicine to help patients in remote areas, plus a number of outreach programs that help physicians throughout the state stay up-to-date in many medical areas.

Recognized for Excellence

The U.Va. Medical Center and many of its physicians consistently have been recognized for excellence. The Medical Center has been listed in U.S. News and World Report’s “The Best Hospitals in America”, and more than 100 U.Va. physicians have been named “best doctors” in America by Best Doctors, Inc. http://www.healthsystem.virginia.edu/home.html
Facilities
The U.Va. Medical Center comprises all the direct patient care areas within the University of Virginia Health System and includes the 500-plus patient beds in University Hospital, the clinics in the West Complex center and at Fontaine center, the U.Va. Children’s Medical Center, the U.Va. Kluge Children’s Rehabilitation Center and the Primary Care Center. Satellite facilities include the Northridge offices, the Orange Clinic, the Orange Diagnostic and Breast Center, the Stony Point Clinic, the Moser Radiation Therapy Center and many other locations across the state. There is also a clinic at the Colonnades retirement community and a full range of surgical services at the U.Va. Outpatient Surgery Center. Together, the facilities offer a continuum of medical and health care services, from preventive care and basic family medicine to home-based care to the most modern intensive care units, including pediatric and neonatal intensive care units.

Specialties
The U.Va. Health System offers full access to more than 450 specialists and subspecialists who provide expertise often available only at a major academic medical center. Highly specialized care often needed in times of crisis is always available, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Many of the specialists are considered among the best in their field and are consistently ranked among America’s Top Doctors. They include heart and cancer specialists, neurosurgeons, endocrinologists (diabetes specialists), gastroenterologists (digestive health experts) and orthopaedic surgeons.

OUTREACH PROGRAMS

Blue Ridge Poison Center
University of Virginia Health System
Blue Ridge Poison Center
PO Box 800774

Health Screenings

The U.Va. Health System Office of Community Relations, Outreach and Service provides information on and support for a range of free community health screenings and public health information events.

Health System Calendar of Events

This online calendar describes current health-related events open to the public. Most events are free or available for minimal charge. More information can be found at http://www.healthsystem.virginia.edu/calendar/

HeatLine

HeatLine is a program of the U.Va. Children’s Hospital designed to reduce heat-related injuries. The service provides daily telephone information from Memorial Day to Oct. 1 for the Charlottesville-Albemarle area on heat and relative humidity, guidelines to prevent dehydration and suggestions for appropriate sportswear. Printed information and programs are available for school programs and camps through the Safe Kids Office at 243-5862.

NIMH Outreach Virginia

This is an educational outreach project in mental health, supporting clinicians, clients, and the general public through easy access to up-to-date information and training in the latest advances in mental health research and clinical care. http://www.healthsystem.virginia.edu/nimh-outreach/

Safe Kids

Safe Kids-Jefferson Area is a community coalition led by the U.Va. Health System and designed to promote child safety and prevent unintentional childhood injuries in the region. Special programs and information are available on gunlocks and sports safety. http://www.safekids.org/

http://www.uvahealth.com

The U.Va. Health System has launched a web site, http://www.uvahealth.com, that makes it easy to get in-depth, up-to-date and reliable health care information on thousands of medical conditions, tests and procedures — and then find a U.Va. doctor with expertise in an area of interest. Topics are covered in English and Spanish and go through a rigorous review process by medical experts. At http://www.uvahealth.com, readers of the web site can also sign up for health e-newsletters and stay current on national and U.Va. medical news.
U.Va.’s Cancer Center is one of only two centers in Virginia designated by the National Cancer Institute as a Clinical Cancer Center and is ranked among the top cancer centers in the United States by U.S. News & World Report. Along with its world-class clinical and research activities, the Cancer Center offers many outreach services to the community.

Cancer Center Support Groups

CancerHelp Kiosk
A wealth of cancer information is available at the CancerHelp Kiosk.

Cancer Screenings
U.Va. offers screening services for all major cancers, including breast cancer, cervical cancer, colon cancer, head and neck cancer, prostate cancer and skin cancer. All screenings are covered by insurance, and some are free to the community. Information on current screenings is available through the health system events calendar, available at http://www.uvahealth.com, or by calling 924-DOCS (3627).

Every Woman’s Life: Cancer Screening Service for Women Over 40
The service provides screening for preventing breast and cervical cancer through early detection, awareness and education for women age 40 and over. The Women’s Health Passport Program is part of the Virginia Department of Health’s Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program. The mission of this service is to screen for cervical cancer in women age 40 and over and for breast cancer in women age 50 and over who have low incomes and are uninsured or underinsured.

The Learning Place: Cancer Patient Health Education
The Learning Place has a staff member available to answer questions and an Internet-accessible computer with a vast array of bookmarks for online research. A lending library of books, videos and tapes provides cancer patients and their families with the information they need to participate actively in their treatment.

Ramona’s Room
Named in honor of a breast cancer patient and located in the Cancer Center, this room has wigs, hats and turbans for women and men who have already lost, or expect to lose, their hair due to medical treatment.
Parking
There are two garages on Lee Street, immediately across from University Hospital, that provide 24-hour parking. Attendants work 24 hours a day on weekdays. There are 29 handicapped spaces in the East Garage and nine in the West Garage. All are near elevators. Additional spaces for handicapped outpatients are available at the ground-floor entrance of the Primary Care Center. Short term pick-up and drop-off parking is available immediately in front of the main hospital entrance.

Commercial parking, adjacent to the Medical Center grounds, is available in the 14th Street garage and in lots behind University Avenue shops. In addition, Hospital Drive provides parking for private clinics patients. Access is from University Avenue (Main Street).

Visitors also may park in the lots surrounding University Hall, which are linked to the Medical Center by University Transit Service buses.

Parking is free and widely available at the Northridge Building and the U.Va. Kluge Children’s Rehabilitation Center (KCRC) on Ivy Road. KCRC dashboard permits are available at the reception desk. http://www.virginia.edu/parking/

Transportation
The Medical Center operates a courtesy shuttle system linking the main grounds (University Hospital and surrounding buildings) with Fontaine clinics, the Northridge building and the U.Va. Kluge Children’s Rehabilitation Center. Wheelchair transportation is provided in all clinic buildings. Courtesy phones are located at major entrances.

Visiting Hours
Visiting hours vary according to each patient’s condition. The information desk in the main lobbies can provide details. Two people may see a patient at one time. Children under 12 years of age may visit only under specific circumstances and with permission from a doctor or nurse. To remain beyond normal hours, visitors must obtain a special pass at the information desk.

Food
Visitors are welcome to use the cafeteria in University Hospital, which offers 24-hour service through vending options.

Overnight Lodging

Educational Services
Admission to the University is competitive, which means that each student who comes to the University has been selected because he or she brings something special to contribute to the common educational experience.

Throughout each academic year, members of the admission staff conduct various programs around the state to inform students and their families about admission to the University. They present evening and weekend programs about how to make a college visit, how to interview, how to choose a college, how to finance a college education, and how colleges evaluate applications. In addition, admission officers present programs to high school and middle school students in the classroom. Topics covered include: the college experience, how to write a college essay and how to choose a high school curriculum. http://www.virginia.edu/undergradadmission/index.html

AccessU.Va. is an ambitious financial aid program designed to keep higher education affordable for all students who qualify for admission, regardless of economic circumstance. http://www.virginia.edu/accessuva/

The College Guides Program seeks to help Virginia students attend college or other postsecondary training. Through a gift from the Jack Kent Cooke Foundation, recent U.Va. graduates serve as college guides in selected public secondary institutions throughout the Commonwealth. Guides assist students with admission and financial aid and scholarship applications. http://artsandsciences.virginia.edu/cue/collegeGuide.php

The Financial Aid Office assists students and their families in paying educational expenses. The University determines eligibility for need-based financial aid on the basis of standardized financial aid documents, available from any high school guidance office in January. Financial aid awards are determined at the time the student is offered admission to the University. http://www.virginia.edu/financialaid/

982-5274

The curriculum is available to part-time students and offers concentrations in business, humanities, education and social sciences. This program enables students who have completed the first two years of an undergraduate degree to continue their studies in courses offered during evening and weekend hours. All BIS students participate in three interdisciplinary Liberal Studies Seminars, which explore topics of broad interest to contemporary society as students develop their critical and analytical thinking skills. Students also have the opportunity to combine areas of academic and professional interest in a Capstone Project, which is the culmination of their degree program.
http://www.uvaBIS.info
The University Center, one of six regional centers of the School of Continuing and Professional Studies, provides courses and programs in personal enrichment, professional development, the Community Scholar Program, programming for educators, national and international travel, academic conferences and seminars, and the Zehmer Hall conference center facility. Personal enrichment courses, with topics drawn from the humanities, the natural world, business, and language, are held one evening per week for six to ten weeks. Professional development opportunities include noncredit daytime workshops, online credit courses and the Workforce Development Academy. http://www.universitycenter.info

Through the Community Scholar Program, community members may enroll in regular on-Grounds University credit courses during the fall and spring semesters. Community Scholars may enroll in up to two classes each semester, along with dependent labs or discussions, for a maximum of 11.5 credit hours. Individuals wishing to take graduate-level courses must provide proof of an undergraduate degree. Courses are primarily offered during the day, although some are offered during evening and weekend hours. http://www.uvacommunityscholar.info

SCPS offers a variety of web-based courses. Online credit certificate programs are available in the following areas: procurement and contracts management, web content development, information technology, e-commerce, leadership, and technology leadership. Several online courses are also available in accounting, human resources management and education.

SCPS operates Charlottesville’s only satellite uplink facility, and has state-of-the-art distance learning classrooms and videoconferencing facilities on Grounds in Thornton Hall and Zehmer Hall.
Senior Citizen Policy

U.Va. offers courses with tuition and certain fees waived for qualified senior citizens. To be eligible, a person must be at least 60 years old, and must have been legally domiciled in Virginia for at least one year before the semester begins. To take a course for credit, a person must have had a taxable income from the preceding year not exceeding $15,000 for Virginia income tax purposes. There is no income requirement if a senior citizen wants to audit a course offered for credit or to enroll in a noncredit course. For non-credit courses, tuition-paying students are given priority when determining if a class has been filled to capacity. After all tuition-paying students have occupied spaces; senior citizens may fill the remaining spaces free of charge, on a space-available basis. While tuition is waived, senior citizens are required to pay any material costs or special fees associated with a course. http://www.scps.virginia.edu/university/registrationinfo.htm

Special Tuition Rate for K-12 Educators

U.Va. offers a special graduate off-Grounds credit course tuition rate for K-12 educators including teachers, counselors, administrators and other professionals employed by a school system. http://curry.edschool.virginia.edu/admissions/profdevel.html

Travel and Learn With Us Programs

These travel and learning opportunities provide intellectual stimulation in a welcoming, congenial and historic environment. Program series include, “Seminars at Oxford,” “Summer on the Lawn,” “The Jefferson Symposium” and “The Civil War Conference.” http://www.uvaseminars.org

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

School of Continuing and Professional Development Certificates

SCPS Certificates are offered at various centers throughout the Commonwealth. Most certificate programs require 10-30 credit hours of instruction or an equivalent number of contact hours. Admission requirements for certificate programs vary, but are usually based on a written application, an interview with the program’s director, and an evaluation of the applicant’s work experience, educational goals, and potential for performing satisfactorily in relevant courses. Applicants may be required to provide transcripts of previous academic activity. Persons interested in a certificate program should first consult with that program’s director to obtain specific admission requirements. http://www.scps.virginia.edu/certificates/certificates.php
Professional development opportunities are available through the Executive Education Department at the Darden Graduate School of Business Administration. Executive programs cover topics such as advanced and general management, leadership and change, marketing and sales, financial excellence, innovation and operations excellence, and capability development. Darden Executive Education also partners with top organizations in company-specific programs. Course length ranges from two days to four weeks. Law School organizations frequently sponsor free public speeches by prominent national leaders on contemporary issues in law, politics, international and economic affairs. Samples of the school’s legal services are noted below.

Legal Assistance Society
The Legal Assistance Society is a student-run, not-for-profit organization dedicated to helping underprivileged people in the area through a variety of projects. Members of the society are U.Va. law students who are given special training and education to provide legal advice to the community. No fees are charged for its services. Its various projects include:

Domestic Violence Project
Established in 1993, the Domestic Violence Project addresses domestic violence through speakers, discussion panels, and films. DVP volunteers also monitor area domestic violence-related criminal justice proceedings through the Shelter for Help in Emergency’s Court Monitoring Program, and assist in the prosecution of domestic violence cases by interviewing victims of domestic violence through the Commonwealth’s Attorney’s Project (CAP). DVP volunteers also contribute to the Central Virginia Legal Aid Society Pro Bono Domestic Violence Project (PDVP).

Legal Education Project
Law students visit area middle schools to help teenagers learn more about the legal system. Weekly classroom visits introduce the trial process, with the semester culminating in a mock trial held at the Law School.

Rappahannock Legal Services Clinic
Law students provide the community’s indigent population with legal services on issues such as bankruptcy, debtor/creditor issues, family law, and landlord/tenant law. The clinic is held Friday afternoons in Culpeper.

Migrant Farm Workers Project
Project volunteers provide legal assistance to migrant farm workers in the area, educating migrants on their legal rights and assisting them with employment law, housing, and discrimination cases.
Pro Bono Criminal Assistance Project (P-CAP)
The Pro Bono Criminal Adjudication Project (P-CAP) is a law student volunteer organization that provides an array of legal assistance in the community, primarily in the area of criminal defense work. P-CAP does not accept direct solicitations. Its projects include:

- Appointed Cases, in which volunteers assist local court-appointed attorneys in all aspects of case preparation;
- Bail Project, in which teams of students meet with arrestees to gather information for a judge;
- Capital Cases, in which volunteers work with attorneys on capital cases at trial and direct appeal on habeas corpus
- Litigation Committee offers confidential, one-on-one sessions by appointment to discuss issues from child custody to fair housing.

Volunteer Income Tax Assistance
The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program, sponsored by Beta Alpha Psi and the Law School, offers free help with income tax filing for local low-income and elderly residents. Sessions are held Saturday mornings during the tax season.

575 Alderman Road • PO Box 400726
Charlottesville, VA 22904-4726
924-1777 • 982-5894 (fax)

The Facilities Management Apprenticeship is a four-year program that combines on-the-job training with classroom instruction. This highly competitive program is open to anyone with a high school diploma or G.E.D. Previous experience is helpful, but not necessary. Past apprenticeships have been in electrical, plumbing, heating, ventilation, and air conditioning, masonry, carpentry, sheet metal and electronics. Apprentices work as state employees, and at the end of four years, they automatically move from the position of assistant to journeyman if they successfully complete the program. http://fmweb.virginia.edu/FMHome/

Externship Program
University of Virginia • University Career Services
Bryant Hall • Scott Stadium
PO Box 400134
Charlottesville, VA 22904-4134
924-8900

The Externship Program gives students an intensive, one-week placement in a company or organization that will provide professional experience. Externships occur in the winter, spring and summer and are planned in advance. University Career Services also provides students with internship information they may pursue on their own in a less structured fashion. Participants are normally undergraduates. http://www.career.virginia.edu/students/programs/externship/
Some fraternities and sororities are specifically structured as service organizations. Others organize their own community service programs. http://www.student.virginia.edu/~mgc-uva/

The University Internship Program places fourth-year (and a small number of third-year) students in business, government and non-profit organizations annually. Academic-year interns work 10 hours per week for 28 weeks and earn eight graded credits. Summer interns work 15 hours per week for nine weeks and earn four graded credits. All students attend a two-hour weekly academic seminar to explore issues related to personal and professional development and public policy. Organizations interested in mentoring a University student may submit an online placement description. http://www.coopercenter.org/uip/

Christmas in April is a national organization dedicated to keeping low-income, elderly, and disabled homeowners living in warmth, safety, independence, dignity, and decency through home repair and rehabilitation volunteer services. Each year, Christmas in April repairs and rehabilitates 10 homes during a one-day event. http://student.darden.virginia.edu/CiA/

Outreach at Darden seeks to help students get involved in the Charlottesville community. The program encourages the spirit of giving, contributes Darden’s diverse talents to Charlottesville and fosters community involvement in future business leaders. Madison House
170 Rugby Road
Charlottesville, VA 22903-2428
977-7051 • http://www.madisonhouse.net

Madison House serves as the student volunteer center at the University of Virginia and is an independent, non-profit 501-C3 organization. It coordinates volunteers, develops leaders, builds community partnerships and promotes life-long volunteer service. Each school year, over 3,100 students volunteer more than 110,000 hours in 16 programs. These programs partner with 70 schools, nursing homes, hospitals, daycare centers, youth organizations and local non-profits to meet community needs. Contact Madison House for more information about the following volunteer community service programs:

 Adopt-a-Grandparent

Animals and the Environment
This program works with the Albemarle/Charlottesville SPCA where volunteers serve as pet pals, the Rivanna Trails Foundation where volunteers work on local trails and Community Bikes Program where volunteers work on bike repair and bike safety.

Athletics
The Athletics Program enables students to coach youth sports leagues. Students work with the Soccer Organization of Charlottesville/Albemarle (SOCA) coaching soccer, McIntire Little League coaching baseball, and the Piedmont Family YMCA coaching basketball, cheerleading, flag football, gymnastics, lacrosse, and rookie soccer.

Big Sibling
U.Va. students are matched with at-risk youth between the ages of 6 and 12. School guidance counselors identify these children and make referrals to Madison House. Group activities and special outings help to provide strong, positive role modeling and enhance the one-on-one relationship. Community Partner Schools include Agnor-Hurt Elementary, Buford Middle, Burnley Moran Elementary, Burley Middle, Clark Elementary, Greenbrier Elementary, Greer Elementary, Ivy Creek Elementary, Jack Jouett Middle, Jackson-Via Elementary, Johnson Elementary, Venable Elementary, Walker Upper Elementary and Woodbrook Elementary.

Boosters

Day Care Program
Volunteers serve as role models assisting with instructional and recreational activities for children who attend child care centers. Community Partner Child Care Centers: Barrett Early Learning Center, Chancellor Street Preschool, MACAA — Head Start, Malcolm Cole Daycare Center, Molly Michie, S.D.A. Early Learning Center, Trinity Child Care Center, Wesley Community Child Care and Westminster Child Care Center.

ESL (English as a Second Language) Program
Volunteers provide ESL tutoring to children and adults through Albemarle County Adult Education, Charlottesville Adult Learning Center and Charlottesville High School.
H.E.L.P. Line 295-TALK (8255)
Volunteers provide callers with a confidential, empathetic, non-judgmental listener with whom to discuss issues such as stress management, sexuality, suicide, domestic violence and sexual assault. The hotline operates during the school year and on a limited basis during the summer and holidays. Volunteers participate in a mandatory 40-hour training process.

Holiday Sharing
This program matches impoverished families in the Charlottesville area, referred by the Salvation Army, with community sponsors who provide the families with food and gift baskets.

Hoos Against Hunger and Homelessness
Volunteers work with adults and children at three local homeless shelters and operate a food redistribution program called “Feed the Need.” Community partner agencies: On Our Own – Drop In Center, Salvation Army and PACEM.

Housing Improvement Program
Volunteers help rehabilitate homes for low-income families and renovate the buildings and grounds that serve the needs of local agencies. Community partner agencies: Albemarle Housing Improvement Program and Habitat for Humanity of Greater Charlottesville.

Medical Services
Volunteers assist staff, patients and families at the U.Va. Medical Center, Martha Jefferson Hospital and the Charlottesville Free Clinic.

Migrant Aid
Volunteers travel to local migrant camps to organize recreational activities, teach or tutor adult migrant workers or children. Community partner agency: Albemarle County Adult and Migrant Education

Rehab Services
Volunteers work at several local agencies providing specialized rehabilitation and companionship services. Community partner agencies include Charlottesville Area Riding Therapy Program (CART), Massanutten Adaptive Snow Sports (MASS), Virginia NeuroCare for Brain Injured Adults, Region Ten’s Meadowcreek Center for mental retardation, and Kluge Children’s Rehabilitation Center (physical therapy, recreational therapy and adaptive aquatics).

Tutoring Program
Volunteers establish one-to-one relationships with children needing supplemental instruction in basic academic skills within the public schools, as well as at Teen Sight, a program of FOCUS Women’s Resource Center. Community partner schools: Albemarle High, Broadus-Wood Elementary, Buford Middle, Burley Middle, Burnley Moran Elementary, Cale Elementary, Charlottesville High, Clark Elementary, Hollymeade Elementary, Jackson-Via Elementary, Monticello High, Murray High, Venable Elementary, Walker Upper Elementary, Woodbrook Elementary.

Youth Mentoring
Volunteers work at several local schools, agencies and programs such as Boys and Girls Club, Charlottesville Abundant Life Ministries, Teens Give – Community Attention, Science Fair Mentoring Projects, Virginia Discovery Museum, Mission Admission at Charlottesville High School, Urban Vision at Friendship Court and “I Have a Dream” at Walker Upper Elementary.

Residents can serve as docents or members of the Volunteer Committee.

Gallery Guild members serve as ambassadors and receptionists in the museum for two hours or more every month.

Volunteer board members run trip programs, host dinners, serve refreshments, build memberships, and plan special events.

Young Friends organize family events and the annual Holiday Art Auction. For docent information, contact the U.Va. Art Museum.

Volunteers can help the libraries in a number of ways.

SUrplus Property Auctions

Surplus property auctions are held periodically, rain or shine, at the University of Virginia Surplus Property Depot. Total purchase price must be paid in full on the day of auction and before removal of property. Purchasers may pay by personal or business check, cash, VISA, traveler’s or cashier’s check, or money order.

http://www.procurement.virginia.edu/sacgi/SaCGI.cgi/Surplus/Surplus.class?FNC=view_auctions__Ahome_html

SUrplus Property Donation Program

State law allows University departments to donate computers, furniture and other surplus items to eligible organizations. Approved organizations include public schools in Virginia and Virginia charitable organizations granted tax-exempt status under the Internal Revenue Code that provide services to persons with disabilities, at-risk youths and/or low-income families. To apply to receive donations, organizations should contact Eric Denby, Director of Procurement Services. Because the University is limited in the amount of donations it can make, the donations and recipients will be determined by Procurement Services on a first-come basis.

Nondiscrimination Policy

Consistent with federal and state law, the University does not discriminate in any of its programs, procedures or practices on the basis of age, color, disability, national or ethnic origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or veteran status. The University operates equal opportunity and affirmative action programs for faculty, staff and students, including discriminatory harassment policies and procedures. The University of Virginia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

The Office of Equal Opportunity Programs (Office of EOP) is responsible for the enforcement of the University's non-discrimination obligation. A faculty member, staff employee or student having a complaint of prohibited discrimination may file a discrimination complaint with the Office of EOP subject to the standards and in accordance with the “University of Virginia Discrimination Complaint Procedures.”

The University’s Section 504 and American Disabilities Act Coordinator is Bradford K. Holland, University Ombudsman (924-7819; bholland@virginia.edu) . The Title IX Coordinator is Karen Holt, Director of the Office of Equal Opportunity Programs (924-3200; kholt@virginia.edu). Both offices are in Washington Hall, East Range, PO Box 400219, Charlottesville, VA 22904.
