

Section 11

Utility License Tax, 2003

Localities in Virginia may impose a local license tax on certain types of public service corporations. As authorized by § 58.1-3731 of the Code, localities may levy a license tax on telephone and water companies not to exceed one-half of 1 percent of the gross receipts of such company accruing from sales to the ultimate consumer in the locality. However, any locality that had in effect before January 1, 1972 a tax rate exceeding the current statutory ceiling may continue to tax at the previous level but may not raise the rate (see Virginia, Acts of Assembly, 1972, c. 858). For telephone companies, long-distance calls are not taxable under this provision. County utility license taxes do not apply within the limits of an incorporated town if the town also imposes the tax.

This levy no longer applies to electric suppliers, gas utilities and gas suppliers as defined in § 58.1-400.2 and pipeline distribution companies as defined in § 58.1-2600. Instead, consumers of electric and gas power are subject to a levy described in §§ 58.1-2900 and 58.1-2904. (See Section 13 of this study for a listing of the current electric and gas rates.)

The utility license taxes do not apply to cable television systems (see Section 12 of this study for local taxation of cable television systems), but only to water and telephone utility providers. Table 11.1 presents the license tax rates on telephone and water utilities for the 38 cities, 72 counties, and 114 towns that reported imposing a utility license tax during the 2003 tax year.

The table below summarizes the responses from reporting cities, counties, and towns. In the majority of cases the localities impose the maximum levy permitted of one-half of one percent.

Item	Cities	Counties	Towns
Telephone
Less than 0.5%	0	2	5
Equal to 0.5%	32	69	104
Greater than 0.5%	5	1	4

* Two localities (Radford City and the Town of Surry) choose to levy a flat amount on the utility companies.
