

Section 16

Motor Vehicle License Local Decal Tax, 2004

Section 46.2-752 of the Code of Virginia authorizes cities, counties, and towns to levy a license tax on motor vehicles, trailers, and semitrailers. The amount of the tax may not be greater than the tax imposed by the state. Currently, the state license plate fees for non-commercial passenger vehicles are $23 for those weighing under 4,000 pounds and $28 for heavier vehicles (§ 46.2-694). The Code stipulates similar guidelines for commercial vehicles, buses and other motor vehicles. The Code also provides for a $4 addition to the state license fee for emergency medical service programs (§ 46.2-694) and provides for a $1.50 addition for the official motor vehicle safety inspection program to be paid at registration (§ 46.2-1168). Finally, House Bill 1400, the Acts of Assembly, chapter 1042, section 1-257, authorizes a special license plate program in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of the founding of Jamestown in 2007. The bill authorizes a mandatory $1 fee until the program expires in 2008.

Most local governments adhere to a $23 ceiling for a vehicle weighing less than 2,000 pounds. However, the Code is unclear about whether the limitation on the local tax applies to the $23 basic state tax or to that tax plus add-on taxes for medical service programs, for the safety inspection program, and for the Jamestown anniversary commemoration. If the more liberal interpretation is used, the cap becomes $29.50 for a vehicle weighing less than 2,000 pounds.

No locality may impose a license tax on any vehicle when the owner pays a similar tax to the locality in which the vehicle is normally stored. Furthermore, no locality may impose a local license tax on any vehicle that is owned by a nonresident of such locality and is used exclusively for pleasure or personal transportation. Vehicles used for state business by nonresident officials, dealer demonstration vehicles, and the vehicles of common carriers are also exempt from local license taxes.

The situs for the assessment of motor vehicles is clarified in § 58.1.3511. Business vehicles with a weight of 10,000 pounds or less are considered to be in the jurisdiction in which the owner of the business: (1) is required to file a tangible personal property tax return for any vehicle used in the business, and (2) has a definite place of business from which the use of the business vehicle is directed or controlled.

If a town within a county levies a motor vehicle license tax, the county must credit the owner with the tax paid to the town. Also, if the town tax is equal to the maximum allowed by law, then the county may not impose any further tax. Likewise, no county license tax may be imposed on vehicles that are subject to license taxes imposed by a town constituting a separate school district (§ 46.2-752).<sup>1</sup> Table 16.1 presents the local motor vehicle license taxes on automobiles, motorcycles, and trucks. All 39 cities report imposing the tax. Ninety-three of the counties, all except Buchanan and Dickenson, impose the tax. Of the reporting towns, 144 say they levy the tax. Rates are indicated as either a flat rate, e.g., $15, or by a range such as $10-$175, which represents the minimum and the maximum tax by weight. Column one indicates the date that the decal must be affixed to a motor vehicle to denote payment of license fees. Section 462-602 of the Code of Virginia requires the display of decals by the date dictated by the governing body. The second column gives the tax rate on private passenger vehicles. Most localities levy a flat rate between $20 and $28, with the median rates for cities, counties, and towns being $20. The table also shows the exemption status for elderly or disabled persons. Four cities and counties offer tax relief for the elderly, while 10 exempt the disabled from this tax. Certain localities also provide relief for disabled veterans. The final two columns give the tax rate on motorcycles and trucks. The tax ranges from $5 to $25 for the former and from $5 up to $250 (depending on weight) for the latter.

<sup>1</sup> The Code refers to “school district” rather than “school division”.
