The University of Virginia Society of Slavic Graduate Students is sponsoring an interdisciplinary forum devoted to expeditions, wanderings, travels to distant places, or to return journeys back home.

Our journeys (real, virtual, and imaginary) inevitably lead to crossroads. In a world that is rapidly shifting technologically, culturally, and politically, our understanding of home and the world outside is also shifting and expanding, calling for reassessments of our previously accepted notions.

Panels on Saturday, March 31
8:30 AM - 6:00 PM
Jefferson Scholars Building at 112 Clarke Court

Keynote address from
Dr. George Gasyna
(University of Chicago Urbana-Champaign)

Forum organized by the Society of Slavic Graduate Students
Sponsored by CREEES, the Departments of Slavic Languages and Literatures, German, French, English, Middle East and Southeast, American Studies, Religious Studies, Global Studies, European Studies, and Medieval Studies.
