AWARD

Marissa Griggs was awarded the Virginia Education Sciences Training fellowship (previously called the IES fellowship), which offers full funding for two years of graduate training.

PUBLICATIONS

RESOURCES

The Department’s Wiki on Collab is expanding with new resources added by department members

On the Department’s Wiki on Collab you can find resources about the workings of the department, such as:

- The Graduate Student Handbook
- Guidelines on submitting dissertations
- Purchasing information

In addition to information on departmental procedures, all kinds of helpful professional information is available on the Collab page, including:

- Handouts from professional issues workshops (e.g., on writing or creating a website)
- Grant application sample materials
- Handouts from statistical workshops
- Information on using E-prime
- Information on grants and fellowships

Have something that might be useful to others? Add it to the wiki!
EVENTS of the WEEK

Monday, March 15, 2010

- Developmental Lunch, 12:00pm-1:15pm, GIL 225
  Anne Charity (William and Mary), Perception of Development and Difference in the Language of African-American Children in Grades Pre-K-2
- Colloquium, 3:30pm, GIL 190
  Danny Oppenheimer, Princeton University
  Fortune Favors the Bold (and the Italicized): Fluency Effects in Reasoning and Education

Tuesday, March 16, 2010

- Dissertation Defense, 11am, North Oval Room of the Rotunda
  Jennifer O'Neil, Multiple Risk and Positive Factors for Depressive Symptoms in a Sample of Low-Income African American Mothers
- Community Lunch, 12:30pm-1:45pm, GIL 225
  Matthew Lerner, Parental Self-Efficacy in Parents Raising Adolescents with Autism Spectrum Disorders
- Social Lunch, 12:30pm-1:45pm, Gilmer B001
  Cheryl Hahn, Forecasting Errors in Gambling Behavior
- Conversation Hour with Danny Oppenheimer, 3:30pm - 4:30pm, Social Interaction Lab
  How to Succeed in Grad School (and Beyond) with, without, or despite your Advisor

Wednesday, March 17, 2010

- Cognitive Lunch, 12:30pm-1:45pm, GIL 225
  Minhong Yu

Thursday, March 18, 2010

- Quantitative Lunch (DADA), 12:30pm-1:45pm, GIL 225
  Jean Yueqin Hu, Dynamics between Estradiol and Binge Eating: A GLLA Model

Friday, March 19, 2010

- Clinical Lunch: 12pm-1pm, GIL 225
  Internship Discussion Day

For news submissions, comments and suggestions, respond to this message or e-mail psych-news@virginia.edu. 