PHILOSOPHY OF TEACHING

BY ALICE LIN

Education is the first step to success in life. The purpose of education is to prepare and equip the students to enter into our ever changing modern society. It takes a community of teachers, parents, staff and administrators to educate a child. Working closely with parents and the larger community, each teacher is responsible for ensuring that all students acquire the academic, technological, social, and personal qualities essential to becoming a productive student as well as a successful citizen. By preparing students in this manner, they will learn what the contemporary diverse society is, and how to solve the new problems in our society. Through quality education, students will be well-prepared and able to apply the knowledge they have learned efficiently to overcome the difficulties in their daily lives. Eventually, they will become better at problem solving and critical thinking so they can deal with peer pressure, higher educational achievements, and social standards.

What the responsibilities of the teacher are

◆ Teach students to set realistic goals
◆ Provide an inviting, supportive, student-centered, and well-structured classroom environment
◆ Facilitate students’ love of learning
◆ Give assignments that are meaningful and challenging but not frustrating
◆ Deliver authentic and attainable instructional materials
◆ Break up complex, lengthy tasks into manageable increments
◆ Integrate technology in content area
◆ Reward success
◆ Provide opportunities for active student responses, teacher-student interactions and interactions among students.
◆ Provide immediate feedback
◆ Ensure that students become a productive student and a successful citizen
