Guidelines for Documentation

The following guidelines for accepting documentation are designed with your patient's safety in mind.

- We ask that all vials have the patients name, date of birth, contents, dilution, and expiration date clearly stated on the label.
- Each vial should be labeled with either a number or letter, which clearly corresponds to the appropriate columns on the schedule.
- Delivery instructions which include: the schedule, a unit of measure for each dose, directions for adjusting a dose if off-schedule, and directions for adjusting a dose in the event of a localized or systemic reaction.
- Your definition of a localized or systemic reaction with instructions for responding to either if they should occur.
- When to call, or under what circumstances you would want to reevaluate your patient prior to proceeding with the prescribed course.
- The diagnostic codes corresponding to your reasons for prescribing IT, and/or any associated symptoms.
- Contact information, including phone, fax number and shipping address.
- Your signature and the date on which you reviewed the documents.

We look forward to working with you! Please feel free to contact me with any questions.
