

ANIMAL WELFARE CONCERNS???

The University of Virginia promotes the highest standards of animal care and use and expects the humane and responsible treatment of all animals we are privileged to use for research, testing, or education.

The University of Virginia Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) is required by law to investigate reports of suspected animal abuse or mistreatment. If you observe, or even suspect, animal abuse or non-compliance with the regulations, you should report it to institutional authorities.

To report a concern about animal care and use, please contact one of the following:

Angela Gamble	Compliance Associate	924-5752	adr8s@virginia.edu
Patricia Foley, DVM	Director, Office of Animal Welfare	924-1884	plf6z@virginia.edu
William M Sutherland, PhD	ACUC Chair	924-5379	wms4f@virginia.edu
Sarah B. Hudson	ACUC Director	924-0405	sbh6w@virginia.edu
Sanford H. Feldman, DVM, PhD	Director, Comparative Medicine	924-5058	shf2b@virginia.edu
David J. Hudson, PhD	Assoc. V.P. for Research	924-3606	djh2t@virginia.edu
Thomas C. Skalak, PhD	V.P. for Research	924-0270	tcs4z@virginia.edu

Anonymous concerns are accepted, although they may make the investigation process more difficult.

NOTE: The Federal Animal Welfare Act Regulations prohibit the discrimination or reprisal against any person for reporting a violation of animal welfare regulations or standards.
